

English – Academic Writing

We structured this Wiki in to the following sections for you

What type of writer are you? Take the test here!

Are you a Squirrel, an Adventurer, an Architect or Decathlete? Knowing your writing type can help you to understand and tackle your own writing difficulties. In this section you can take the test and also find examples of writing strategies and techniques that can support you in your work.

The Writing Process

A text is not written overnight, but develops over many hours and days. Managing this process yourself can be challenging. In this section, you can learn about the nature of the academic writing process and the different phases you will go through while writing.

Competencies in Academic Writing

Guides to Academic Writing